WYATT-BRICE.

A wedding of state-wide importance was solemnized at the first Baptist church Wednesday evening of last week at eight o'clock when Miss Gladys Brice, eldest daughter of Judge and Mrs. C. R. Brice, became the bride of Dillard Wyatt, Rev. W. R. Hill, pastor of the first Baptist church reading the beautiful ring service which united the lives and fortunes of these interesting young people. The ceremony was witnessed by about three hundred friends and relatives of the families. The beautiful auditorium of the church was effectively decorated in green and white. Tall plants and ferns banked the altar and masses of lovely white dahlias were used. White canvas carpeted the chancel and aisles, and broad white satin ribbon caught with clusters of white dahlias and ferns roped off the pews for the close friends and relatives of the bride and groom. Prior to the entrance of the wedding party Miss Alma Pearson, violinist, played with orchestra accompaniment, while white ribbons were drawn down the entire length of both aisles, and as the music fell into the strains of the bridal chorus from 'Lohengrin,' the wedding party entered. First came the ushers, Messrs. Rufus McConnell, Laurie Vanchelet, Guy Blackwood and Willard Prager, followed by the bridesmaids, Misses Sadie Cooper and Helen Rapp of Santa Fe. Next came the maid of honor, Miss Evelyn Brice, sister of the bride, followed by the dainty little flower girl, Dorothy Dow, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram M. Dow, in a frilly frock of pale blue organdie, carrying a white basket from which she threw pink rose petals. The bride entered on the arm of her father and was met at the chancel by the groom and his best man, Curtis Hill, and Rev. Hill, who read the impressive service, the bride and groom kneeling on a white satin pillow for the pastoral benediction. During the ceremony the violinist played softly on muted strings with piano accompaniment, the orchestra swelling into the stately Mendelssohn wedding march, as the party left the church. The bride's gown was of heavy white satin combined with rose pink and duchesse lace, with a long train. She wore her white tulle veil trimmed with orange blossoms and carried a colonial bouquet of bride's roses tied with a shower of white ribbons in which were caught orange blossoms. The bridesmaids and maid of honor were gowned in orchid tulle, made in bouffant apron fashion, over silver net, in which were caught garlands of wee roses, and silver ribbons. They wore picture hats of orchid tulle and roses and carried colonial bouquets of half blown pink Killarney roses and white sweet alyssum. An informal reception at the Brice home followed the wedding and here the same color scheme was carried out in a wealth of white blossoms and green. Misses Gladys Jolly and Frances Bear served punch on the wide porch from a flower laden table, as the guests arrived, and receiving in the living room with the bridal party were Judge and Mrs. Brice, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Dow, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Jaffa, Mrs. Wyatt, Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Miller, of Clovis, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Kerr of Carlsbad, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Smith, of Houston, Tex., Mrs. Eva Cooper, and Mrs. Earnest Malone. Mrs. Brice was gowned in a creation of fillet lace over ashes of roses satin and wore a black picture hat. Pink and white ices, small cakes, and pink and white cream mints were served from a beautifully appointed table in the dining room by Misses Charlotte Wilson, Eleanor Bedell, Ruth Hervey and Laura Ballard, Mrs. Oliver H. Smith presided over the registry on the porch and as each guest registered he received a white box containing a piece of the wedding cake. The bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Sadie Cooper. Cutting the wedding cake was a feature of the evening, Miss Eleanor Bedell cut the first, and Miss Sophie Church, the button. Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt left on the evening train for a short honeymoon trip, but would not tell where. The bride's going away gown was semi-tailored, in a modish shade of brown with accessories to match. They will be at home to their friends at the Brice residence on their return. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Smith of Houston, Tex., guests of Judge and Mrs. Brice, Dr. and Mrs. H. A. Miller of Clovis, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Kerr, of Carlsbad, guests of H. J. Hagerman, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Harkey and Miss Myrtle Harkey of Carlsbad.

THE COTTON OUTLOOK.

Mr. Larsh finished work on the cotton gin this week and will be ready to take care of the cotton of Artesia. It has been quite a task to install the machinery, but everything has been done in tip top shape. The cotton crop is going to be a surprise to everyone. Unless Jack Frost makes an extra early call this fall and that is not probable there will be oodles of the fluffy cotton brought to the gin. Mr. Larsh says some fields around here are as good as he ever saw in his life. If this year's crop comes up to expectations we may expect a large acreage next year as the crop had a very backward spring to contend with. The soil is as good as lay out doors. Ed. Stone has a patch close in that is excellent and it never has been irrigated. With a normal amount of rainfall and dry farming methods we could raise a large amount here.—Artesia Advocate.

Mrs. Genevieve Blevins returned from a six months stay with her mother and a sister, recently deceased, at Topeka, Kansas, getting home Tuesday afternoon. Her mother, Mrs. Morgan, accompanied her and will make her home with Mrs. Blevins in this city.

The Secret of a Superlative Tire

The whole question of a super-tire is a matter of principles. For there is nothing exclusive in the industry. No patents, no secret formulas prevent a conscientious maker from building the best.

But cost and competition modify ideals. The Brunswick idea is to pay perfection's price and get it.

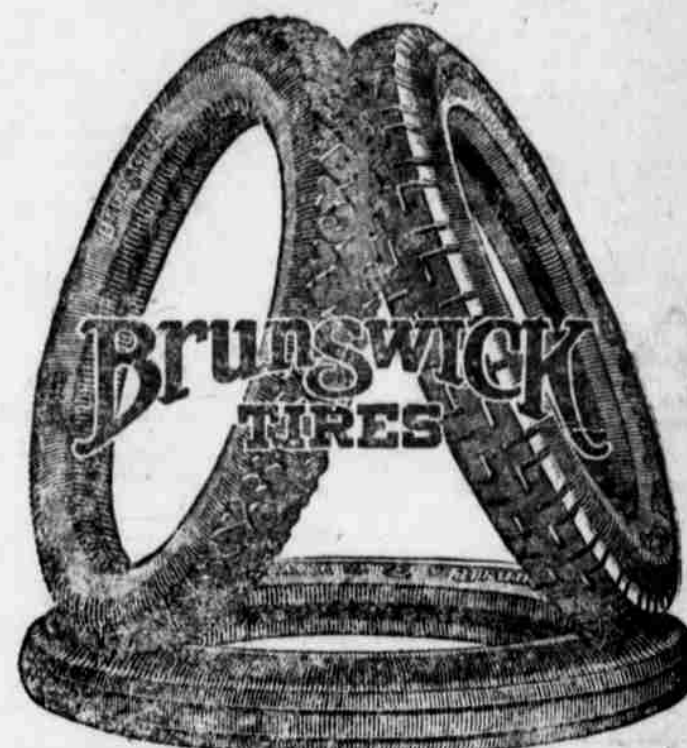

That has been the Brunswick policy since 1845. And it accounts for the growing preference for Brunswick Tires. Motorists expect the utmost from a tire bearing the name of Brunswick—and get it.

You, too, will be convinced by your first Brunswick, that here is an extraordinary tire, and that more money cannot buy a better.

Better tires of their type are impossible—or better tubes. That we guarantee.

Try ONE Brunswick—learn how it excels.
